

MINING SURVEYS.

A Self-Explanatory Circular From the General Land Office.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4, 1884.
U. S. Surveyors General and Registrars and Receivers.

GENTLEMEN:—1. The rights granted to locators under Section 2,322, Revised Statutes, are restricted to such locations on veins, lodes or ledges as may be situated on public domain. In applications for lode claims where the survey conflicts with a prior valid lode claim or entry, and the ground in conflict is excluded, the applicant not only has no right to the excluded ground, but has no right to that portion of any vein or lode the top or apex of which lies within such excluded ground, unless his location was prior to May 10, 1872. His right to the lode claimed terminates where the lode, in its onward course or strike, intersects the exterior boundary of such excluded ground and passes within it.

2. The end-line of his survey should not, therefore, be established beyond such intersection, unless it should be necessary so to do for the purpose of including ground held and claimed under a location which was made upon public land and valid at the time it was made. To include such ground (which may possibly embrace other lodes) the end-line of the survey may be established within the conflicting survey, but the line must be so run as not to extend any further into the conflicting survey than may be necessary to make such end-line parallel to the other end-line and at the same time embrace the ground so held and claimed. The useless practice in such cases of extending both the side lines of a survey into a conflicting survey and establishing an end-line wholly within it, beyond a point necessary under the rule just stated will be discontinued.

3. These instructions will be observed by Surveyor-Generals in all cases where surveys have not been approved by them prior to receipt hereof.

4. If, however, a survey under the old practice has been approved by the Surveyor-General prior to the receipt by him of these instructions application for patent thereon, if otherwise regular, will not be rejected.

5. In applications filed prior to receipt hereof at the local land office and applications allowed under the preceding paragraph entry will be allowed as heretofore when the necessary proofs under former regulations are complete.

6. In cases of applications and entries allowed under paragraphs 4 and 5, amendment of the survey will be directed by this office, if found necessary.

7. After the receipt of this circular at the local land office all applications for mineral patents, applications to purchase, Register's final certificates of entry and Receiver's receipts must not only describe the ground claimed but must state specifically what conflict or conflicts with other surveys, lots or claims are excluded, giving the number of each conflicting survey or lot. The published and posted notices must contain the same information.

8. As this circular does not affect any rights which an applicant has under the law its enforcement in pending cases cannot operate injuriously, and it will therefore be carried into effect at once in the adjudication of cases by this Office. In the form of patents to be issued the same rule will go into operation as soon as the necessary blanks and records can be prepared.

9. A strict observance of these regulations will be required.

Very Respectfully,
N. C. McFARLAND,
Commissioner.

Approved,
H. M. TELLER,
Secretary.

Rejoicing in the South

The Charleston News and Courier describes the scenes witnessed in that city on the day appointed for the jollification over the election of Cleveland. There is no vestige of disloyalty in the account of the celebration. On the contrary, the expressions of content were earnest and evidently sincere. The following paragraph is from the News, the leading and most radical Democratic paper in South Carolina:

"The United States flag was everywhere. Thousands upon thousands of 'stars and stripes' made the streets magically beautiful. There was here and there a Palmetto flag, but as by one accord, the evident purpose was to glory in South Carolina, in her place in the galaxy of States, and not as a star which should shine alone. What better emblem is there of reunion than the flag of that Union which is indissoluble and indestructible?"

THE UNION PACIFIC.

[S. F. Chron., etc.]

After the holidays Congress will take up Senate bill 1178, which proposes to extend the time for the payment of the debt due the Government by the Pacific roads for a term of sixty years. The argument used by the friends of the bill is that the roads cannot pay that debt unless they secure the extension demanded. Leaving out of the case for the present the Central Pacific, whose position has been often stated in these columns, and looking only at the Union Pacific, what are the facts? The road was notoriously built and equipped for less than the proceeds of the first mortgage and subsidy bonds. It was proved in the Credit Mobilier investigation that the great mass of junior bonds and stock was illegally and fraudulently issued, being in direct violation of the charter. To pay interest and dividends upon this mass of illegal bonds and stock the company took the money which should have been used in paying its debt to the Government, and to earn this money the company has, for fifteen years been taxing the people who live along the line and those who use the line as a means of transcontinental intercourse, an average annual sum of not less than $16,000,000. It has always been the hope of the people that in some way and at some time they would be relieved from the necessity of paying interest on these fraudulent bonds and stock. But now the company asks and some Senators urge that the Government shall pass a law which will practically legalize all these bonds and stock, and will substantially authorize the company in maintaining its oppressive tolls for more than half a century! Nor is this all. It is not proposed in the bill to adopt any restriction as to tolls, nor is anything said about future issues of bonds and stock. The company offers nothing in consideration for the extension it seeks. It reserves the right of issuing more stock and bonds, so as to absorb any future profit which the increase of traffic may bring, and so prevent a reduction of rates.

It is not easy to conceive the reasoning by which Senators will undertake to argue that it is the interest of the country that the people who use the Union Pacific shall be taxed sixteen millions a year for sixty years in order to secure to the Government the repayment of a debt of $100,000,000 or thereabouts. In this country the people are the Government; to tax the one for the benefit of the other is taking money out of one pocket to put it in another. But it is far from being certain that the debt due by the Pacific roads is a bad debt. We have no doubt that attorneys can be found who would undertake to collect it. Why should it be compromised or extended? The companies say they cannot pay. Well, they must do as other people do when they can't pay. They must be sued and their property sold to satisfy their creditors. The Pacific Railroad people are the last people in the world who are entitled to favors or forbearance.

There will be a powerful lobby, of course, working for the bill, and the people will have no lobby to work against it. But there comes a time in these fights when the best lobbies reach the term of their usefulness. The camel's back is pretty heavily loaded; it will not need many more straws to break it.

The Garfield National Monument Fund.

The Garfield national monument fund amounts now to $132,399 04, of which $1,209 16 has been contributed by foreign countries as follows: France, $1,149 16; Belgium, $40; Australia, $12; England, $5; Canada, $3. Among the States the highest sum was contributed by Ohio, $84,491 56; the second highest was New York, $13,466 49; Illinois third, $5,396 53; Iowa fourth, $2,824 35; Connecticut, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Missouri, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, each between $1,000 and $2,000; Colorado, Michigan, New Jersey, Oregon, Texas, each over $500 and less than $1,000; Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Tennessee, each over $100 and less than $500; Delaware, Rhode Island, Vermont, over $50 and less than $100; Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Nevada, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, under $50, the lowest being North Carolina, $4. Of the Territories Montana contributed $1,922; New Mexico, Utah, Washington and Wyoming aggregating $1,137 45; Arizona, Dakota, Idaho, Indian aggregating $97 85; District of Columbia, $9. The fund is drawing interest at 4 per cent.

Albert Hawking, who has been coachman for all the Presidents since Gen. Grant's time, was on the 18th inst., re-engaged for the same service under President Cleveland.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Laws Governing Locations and Assessment Work.

Eureka Sentinel.

An old prospector writes to the Sentinel for information respecting mining rights, particularly such as effect valid locations and assessment work. We publish replies, well knowing that they will be valuable to all mine owners:

By an Act of Congress approved January 22, 1860, the period allowed for the first annual expenditure required by Section 2,324, United States Revised Statutes, is one year from the first day of January succeeding the date of location, and this provision is made applicable to all locations made subsequent to May 10, 1872. For example: If a claim was located Jan. 1, 1879, or at any date during that year, the locator had from January 1, 1880, until December 31 of the same year to do his assessment work; and for each year afterwards until the claim was or is patented, the annual assessment had to be done within the fiscal year, dating from the first day of January. Say that such work had been performed during the years '81, '82 and '83, and neglected during the present year, (1884,) the claim would be subject to re-location on the second day of January of the next year, (1885,) and not before that date.

There is no law compelling the locator of an abandoned claim to make any statement in his notice of location, by which it would be known that such claim had been previously owned under another title, but such statement should be made in an application for a patent.

On a claim located at any time during the present year, (1884,) it will not be necessary to perform the assessment work until 1885, but it must be done within that year.

If the assessment work is performed during the year 1885, the claim will not be subject to relocation until January 2, 1887. [J. B. Williamson, Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington, wrote under date of March 29, 1880, giving the second day of January as the day to relocate. Some lawyers agree with him, but others are of the opinion that the time meant by law is within the fiscal year, which ends December 31st at midnight, and the commencement of the time for relocation is the first minute of the New Year's day.—Ed. Sentinel.]

A claim cannot be held for seven or eight years by making relocations every first of January, as will be seen by the foregoing.

District Registrar Fred B. Hinckley contends that the period for assessment work commences from the date of location and extends from such date until the thirty-first day of December of the next year exclusive.

When to Advertise.

From the Albany Journal.

The best business man in the city of Albany to-day said yesterday that he spent the most money for advertising when people felt poorest. "That is the time," he said, "when people read advertisements. If they find a store advertising bargains they will leave their old places and go to the newer, and the new one, if it is smart, will keep them every time. The old-fashioned business man will feel that he must do things in a modern style if he wants to swim with the current."

The proposition regarding the moving of the State University to this city is very favorably received by the press of the State. All except the Elko Press.—Carson Appeal.

Prof. Charles Legate has been making some calculations on the weather for January. He predicts a heavy snow storm about the 5th, and rough weather from that time until the 15th, when we may expect mild weather until late in February.

Under the law of entail, which prevails in some counties, the landed property descends to the oldest son, but under the law of cocktail, which prevails in most civilized counties, there is a bar to this decent, and the old man usually gets away with the property before the eldest son is old enough to smoke.

Costumes for the Ball.

A large variety of ladies' costumes can be seen at Mrs. Motley's millinery store, and the prices are fixed at a very low figure. The Knights are bound to keep the expense as low as possible. Go and choose your characters early.

Nevada at the Exposition.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat of Dec. 18 gives the following account of Nevada's exhibit at the New Orleans Exposition:

"Commissioner Col. C. C. Thomas is represented by his assistant, Col. W. M. Havenor, who has admirably arranged the large amount of rare and costly articles that were brought from this wealthy State. One of the distinctive industries of this State is mining, and there is on exhibition a model of the Northern Belle mine, showing the topography of the mountain where the mine is located, with its numerous canyons, crosscuts, etc.; also, the interior of the mine, with its drifts, galleries, etc. This mine has produced 10,000,000 pounds of chloride ores.

The value of the mining interests of this State, Mr. Havenor stated, was shown by the fact that the product of the mines now reached $600,000,000, and embraced the chlorides, sulphurets, carbonates and other varieties. In the exhibit of this State there are cases of ores worth $50,000, and the specimens of valuable ores and geological curiosities will be very interesting. These specimens embrace samples of tinsel of native borax, sulphur, gypsum and nearly every mineral found in the United States. The ores of this collection are principally from the old Comstock lode, Virginia City, and have been taken from a depth of 3,310 feet below the surface, which is equal to 3,800 feet as mines in Europe are measured.

Among the curiosities of this State there is a plaster cast of footprints found in the State Prison quarry at Carson City. These remarkable indentations are in a solid sandstone forty feet from the surrounding earth. A block of quartz of silver ore was shown the reporter that is said to yield at the rate of $168 per ton in gold and $1,208 per ton in silver; besides these he saw a number of rich specimens of gold ore.

There is a full display of the working of mines by maps and photographs, showing the working particularly of the Comstock mines."

The Assessor Business.

The Supreme Court has refused to review the action of the Commissioners in issuing certificates of election to C. H. Stoddard, the Assessor-elect, and to Dr. Lewis as School Superintendent, on the ground that the act was not a judicial one and per force could not be reviewed on certiorari. The matter will, therefore, rest until after the 5th when the question will be again raised on some other proceeding, probably mandamus. If the action of the Board in that matter was not a judicial one it would be difficult to name an act that could be so considered.

Holiday Cigars.

For the finest of imported and domestic cigars go to E. Meyer. At his establishment will also be found the best of smoking and chewing tobacco. Orders will be filled for the trade at the lowest living rates.

Comfortable Bath Rooms.

The luxury of a bath in a warm room can be enjoyed by all at Charley Coleman's, where you can also receive the most satisfactory shave you ever enjoyed.

The Grand Prize.

The crushing in of a portion of the roof of the Grand Prize mill yesterday morning, will result in its closing down for the Winter a month or two earlier than it would have done had no accident occurred. The mill had stopped temporarily, awaiting the arrival of quicksilver, but would have resumed in a few days. The bins are now full of ore of good grade sufficient, we are informed, to pay the running expenses of both mine and mill for the current month, which will be worked if possible as soon as the storm is over. The force in the mine has been reduced to some ten or twelve men, who will be employed in extending drifts and doing exploration work. The prospects of the Grand Prize at the present time are better than they have been for several years the drifts are all in ore, the indebtedness of the Company was being rapidly diminished and would have been paid altogether and a surplus of coin left on hand. We are sorry to see the old time favorite close down.—Times-Review.

A BEAUTIFUL PRESENT.—Supt. T. J. Read has not been forgotten by the employees of the Eureka Con. Mining Co. They have bought as a present for him a magnificent solid silver tray and pitcher and sloop bowl. It must have cost a round sum—bought from Shreve & Co., San Francisco. It is very handsomely engraved expressing the regard felt for him by the employees during his four years Superintendency. The gift for (New Years) is on exhibition at Dr. Schneider's drug store.

Plymouth Church is the rock upon which Beecher will split. Pews will not sell for much next year.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER.

Robert H. Scott Shot Dead In His Store at Paradise.

Winn. Silver State 26th.

Yesterday this community was startled upon the arrival of the Paradise stage, by the news that Robert H. Scott, a well-known and highly respected citizen, was shot in his store Wednesday night, in the village of Paradise. As the telegraph line was not working night before last, no news of the murder had been received here until the arrival of the stage.

The particulars of the horrible affair, as given by S. J. Anderson, who arrived on the stage, are as follows: Mr. Scott, who was a member of the firm of Scott & Powell, was closing up the store, as was his custom, between 8:30 and 9 o'clock Wednesday night, his partner, Dr. Powell, and his clerk, Isaac Weaver, having left some time previous. A shot was heard by Mrs. Powell, whose residence is adjacent to the store, and she went to the door and saw a man running from the store. She gave an alarm, and citizens went to the store, on the floor of which they found the lifeless body of R. H. Scott, near which was a shotgun, the barrel of which was yet warm. There was a pool of blood on the floor, and an examination disclosed a large sized-hole in the side of the dead man, below the heart, from which the blood was still flowing. A sack, which evidently had been used to muffle the sound of the murderer's foot-falls, was found in the store, and blood-stained tracks were on the floor. The citizens were so much excited at the horrible occurrence that they neglected to adopt any systematic method of discovering the murderer for some time after the deed was committed.

It is supposed that the murderer enveloped his feet in sacks and entered the store stealthily about the time Mr. Scott was preparing to close it, his object being robbery. The belief is that a scuffle ensued, and that the murderer fired while his victim had hold of the muzzle of the gun, and immediately escaped from the store. A young man named Clarence Gray is suspected of being the murderer, as he was not seen in the village after the deed was committed. He is described as being tall and slim, with sharp features and a scar on one of his cheeks. He wore when last seen a large white hat with black band, and blue overalls. Parties left Paradise going in every direction in search of him, and if found, his trial will doubtless cost the county nothing.

R. H. Scott was a native of Ireland. He came to this coast in early days, and resided in Sonoma county, California. He came to this county about twenty years ago, and resided on the Little Humboldt, in Paradise Valley, for years. In 1869 he was a member of the Legislature, and subsequently was elected Commissioner, in which capacity he served the county four years. For some time past he has been a member of the firm of Scott & Powell, merchants, in Paradise. He was a man of the strictest integrity, never swerving from what he believed to be right, and respected by everybody. It is not known that he had an enemy in the community. He was about 55 years of age and unmarried. He has no relatives on this coast.

PURSuing THE MURDERER.

At latest accounts some twenty vaqueros were in pursuit of Clarence Gray, the murderer of R. H. Scott. They found a piece of his coat on a barbed wire fence, through which he crept, in the rear of the store where the murder was committed. The coat was afterwards found near an Indian camp, where he passed. He is supposed to have gone in the direction of Humboldt river from Paradise, as he was at the Bliss ranch a week or ten days ago and crossed the river on a dam. Gray came here from the east less than a year ago, and is well known by several here in town. Yesterday Constable Hadley, F. M. Fellows, J. W. Bell, Charley Palmer, Tom Edwards and Mike Tully, left here for various places along the river and railroad to intercept him should he attempt to get on the cars. It seems hardly possible for him to make his escape out of the county, and if caught by the Paradise party, they will be very likely to try the strength of their lariats on him.

A PERFUMED DUDE.—Sitting in the piazza of the Cataract House, at Niagara Falls, was a young, foppish-looking man, his garments very highly scented with a mingled odor of cologne and musk. A solemn-faced, odd-looking man, after passing the dandy several times, with a look of aversion which drew general notice, suddenly stopped, and in a confidential tone, said:

"Stranger, I know what'll take that scent out of your clothes; you—"

"What do you mean, sir?" said the exquisite, fired with indignation, starting from his chair.

"Oh, get mad now; swear, pitch round, fight, just because a man wants to do you a kindness!" coolly replied the stranger.

"But I know what'll take out that smell—phew! you just bury your clothes—bury 'em a day or two."

At this moment there issued from the crowd a simultaneous roar of merriment; and the dude very sensibly vanished upstairs.
